The Nineteen Fifty-Seven

The Puma

Peshastin-Dryden High School
Peshastin, Washington

Pat Dodge-Editor
Swede Weedman-Ass't. Ed.
As the years roll by and you sit one day and look again at the first publication of “The Puma,” we, the staff, sincerely hope that we have made it possible for you to recapture the many memories of a very happy year.

We also wish to thank the parents and communities who have helped to make this consolidation a success.
Dedication

Without such understanding teachers as we have had this past year the great step of consolidation would have been much greater.

Instead it has given us much satisfaction in bringing about better opportunities for ourselves and future generations.

As a means of showing our sincere appreciation we dedicate the first "Puma" to our teachers.

The 1956-57 school year has brought us together as a new high school. We have added courses and activities. We have underway projects which will place you in an enviable position in equipment and facilities. With cooperation as our key the future position of Peshastin-Dryden High School as a leader is assured.

Secretary

Principal

In this day of world crisis we need people who can think for themselves. The main avenue to the development of thinking is education. With this thought in mind let us all strive to make our new school an institution for the development of Americanism.
School Board has many and varied activities

The school board is a group elected by the townspeople. They see that the school abides by the state laws, in such things as subjects and graduation requirements. The school board approves the school policies, and student activities. They also control the "purse strings" and decide where and how the district money is to be spent.

This year a great deal is being spent for the new football equipment and field, which the students will appreciate in future years.

The first student council of Peshastin-Dryden High School, led by President Steve Reister, worked closely with the students to bring the success we anticipated from consolidation. They first encountered the task of drawing up a constitution that would be the backbone of our school throughout the coming years. Supported in their success by the Student Body, they received the needed encouragement to face new problems of development. The Council sincerely hopes that next year will show as much continued advancement.
A. S. B. Officers

This year's officers got the newly consolidated schools off to a good start. The constitution they drew up was voted on and passed unanimously by the Student Body.

Activities were plentiful and given with much pleasure.

Dances, and paper drives were just two of the major activities they sponsored.

The senior sneak and senior ball were the two main activities enjoyed by the seniors. The senior ball was sponsored by the junior class and the seniors appreciated their time and effort in making it a delightful success.
