you've played a sport in this community, chances are the Dryden Gun Club was responsibly in one way or another. That's why this year when faced with who to dedicate the yearbook to came up, the answer was simple: the Dryden Gun Club. Over the years the Gun Club has given so much to our school district and even more to the community that the Publications Class believed we needed to do our part in recognizing this special group.

The Dryden Gun Club was originally started by a group of farmers and other locals who enjoyed the sport of target shooting at a location just up the road from the Dryden School. It moved to its current location in 1949 when the Jack Griffith family donated the property for the club. In 1961, the members decided to try hosting seafood feeds of fresh crab and oysters for fundraisers. The feeds turned out to be more successful than they had even hoped for and they soon had some excess money in their coffers. It was decided by the members to donate some of their funds to support local youth activity that was in need of help. That started a tradition that still exists to day. The Gun Club usually holds three fundraising activities and raises several thousand dollars of which mostly ends up going to support all kinds of youth sports and activity groups in the upper valley. Over the years the Club has been instrumental in such major projects as the baseball dugouts and football field lights at Peshastin and the tennis courts and sporting fields in Dryden. It's member's have adopted an "It's for the kids" attitude and motto that is known throughout the Wenatchee Valley. The people of the Valley recognize this motto and continue to support it year after year.

It is Cascade High School's turn to recognize the Dryden Gun Club. For all of the contributions they have made to our school and the community. We would like to say thank you to all members past and present. Thank you for all your dedication and support of our schools and community.
180 degrees, defined as a full turn around, a change over or modification. Cascade High School has experienced several such changes. No driving off campus, new coaches for athletic teams, the senior trip was almost cancelled, and scheduling for classes was different. We've switched our health teachers, new staff was added, the list goes on and on. It seems that most ideas we were used to are completely different from what they were. Some of these changes were first met with denial, nobody was willing to believe that some of these changes were happening. Others felt anger and retaliated. Then there was a little bit of bargaining. Finally, acceptance started to settle in, school spirit actually rose through the Kodiak Krazies and successful athletic turnout. The Publication's Class would like to recognize these changes and accept them for what they are. Because with change always comes the hope for a better future.

"Our school is in a transition phase."

1. The concert band flag twirlers prepare for a rigorous upcoming march.

2. Seth Burlando and Steffan Medanels hang out and watch Chelsea play World of Warcraft on an off day.

3. Esai Jasso is aware that there are things living in his hair, he just chooses not to care.

4. Martha Groves, Eanna Merighi, and Josh Subido hang out and try to keep warm at a tennis match.
Diverse scenes of student life can be found around every corner.

Cascade is a truly unique educational institution.

1. May I Take Your Order?

The Student Store has a long history of delicious snacks and very long lines. Ashley, Roxanne, and Christina can easily handle the slower morning traffic.

2. mmm...nutritious

Many students take advantage of the school breakfast program. Senior Guy Fritz is seen filling his tray with a well-balanced meal.

3. Technology...

Computers make everything easier. Senior Connie Wickstrom uses the library to finish an important paper.

4. For work or play

5. In the Commons...

Before school students meet with their friends in the commons to joke around before class starts.
And Double-Time

Junior Michelle McIntyre likes to do a little tae-bo between classes to stay in shape.

Counting Sheep

Sleep is very important to the successful student. Sophomore Frank Stickles catches a few extra Z’s in Mr. Allen’s room during break.

The Back Hallway

Junior Catie Hills and friends create an imposing pose as they head to class after the ringing of the two-minute bell.

High Five!

Lunch is a time for fun, a break from the monotony of classes. Nick Faulconer and Aleas Gomez congratulate themselves while their friends watch from the side.

Arms Crossed

Don’t worry, there’s no fighting going on. Levi Serape and Cortlin Martin prove that the corner rail in the commons is the cool place to hang out during break.

On the Runway

What is high school but one giant fashion show? Senior Corey Nunn and Junior Vanessa Ruff take to the commons in an all out walk-off.
Eli Vinje Vs. Corey Nunn

I'm sure none of us will ever forget the epic battle! Mr. Daley's CWP class put on the show of the century, and half the school showed up! I don't think we've ever seen more school spirit! in a knock-down drag, out winner take-all, wrestling match the winner is... COREY NUNN!

What the New Year Has Given Us...

Left Top: After a few years of coaching the extra curricular Speech and Debate Team, Mr. Allen now has a class to teach the art of speech giving. Not to mention he now has a new classroom to teach it in.

Far Right: Our school is proud to welcome Mrs. Ledbetter as our new Librarian.

Left Bottom: Mrs. Burke has been teaching here at Cascade for a while but this year she made a big leap taking on the ELL class, also known as ESL.

This season the Kodiaks finished ahead with five wins and four losses. Everyone on the team worked hard to make this year a successful one. There were some tremendous wins, like the Quincy game (44-7). Losing only one league game this season was a year in Cascade football to remember. Keep up the great work Kodiaks!

Dancin' on the Red Line

Cross Country took a new turn this year when Mr. Rieke took over the head coach position at Cascade. The new coach started recruiting for the fall 2005 team in spring of 2005 and managed to piece together one of the largest cross country teams that our school has seen in some time. And, as some of you may have guessed, the new coach even brought in a scientific approach to the sport. The red line, as it's being called by Mr. Rieke, is the point where your body is at its best performance without creating lactic acid, which slows you down. With this new strategy and new runners, the Cascade Cross Country team managed to pull off one of the best seasons Cascade has seen in a while!

Below: After his knee injury Junior Nathan Canas finally found a way to lead the race.

Above: Junior and first time Cascade runner Josiah Milner held on to a steady varsity spot all season. He proves his position as he passes the competition for a solid finish in Wenatchee.

ove: Before the meet, the runners come together for a using session of "Up Here in a Valley."
Below: Senior runner Aaron Barnhill finishes off his third and final year in cross country by getting a twenty spot in districts, qualifying for one last state meet.

Right: Mr. Reike must have done something right because he came out with coach of the year.

Left: Junior Senea McMahon came up with an amazing 15th place finish at districts. Top Right: Senior Whitney Esparza has a little snack before her race. Middle Right: Senior Seth Orlando injured his foot in the league meet but still pushes through the pain to finish. Middle: Freshman Jed Orlando supports the team by ringing Cascade's infamous bell. Below: This sight you may never see again. Ms. Loomis, Mr. Rieke, AND Mr. Peek ALL hard at work - simply amazing.

"We are playing to get into Districts. We are working hard as a team. We have been a little inconsistent, but we are working through it. Malorie Clark and Sarah Howe have been great captains. Brianna Frank has been a "gamer." We just need to execute on the floor and relax under pressure. We are a young team and are learning a lot. We really miss Rae Smith (hurt with an ankle injury) but she will be back next year. We love you, Rae! I believe in this team. They are all wonderful girls! We need everyone to play to their abilities and hearts! We are going to take one game at a time. Districts, then State!" - Coach McMohan

The season was a fun learning experience for the girls as a handful of seniors led a young group of up-and-coming players to the playoffs. The Kodiaks finished third in the CWAC North with a league record of 6-4. The 2005 Kodiaks were very much like a family, and team chemistry played a big role in their success on the field. The seniors left behind a legacy of hard work, friendship, and success for future Kodiaks to follow.

BELOW:
Some say that cheerleading is far the toughest of the fall sports because they have to wear skirts outside on cold fall nights.

"Hold up, wait a minute, let me put some boom in it!"
Never once do the cheerleaders shy away from an event, seen here they're preparing for a performance at a pep assembly.

1. Cheerleaders show support for all Cascade High School sports, not just football. They were photographed here at a volleyball game.

2. The dancing spirit set by the cheerleaders boiled over to the staff this year.

3. The pep band provides the music for a few of our favorite cheers.

4. These two new cheerleaders, Ashley Petterson and Missy Allen, can't believe how much fun they're having.

If it was easy, anybody could do it!

Kodiak Wrestler's season started off with a huge change. Coach Keith Koch, the new head coach, brought new ways to the team. With a large turn out, the boys put it in their minds that they would make it. As the season progressed the team hit a few tough spots, as a couple of teammates were injured. But this didn't let them get down, the wrestlers continually showed improvement throughout the season.

Senior Erica Bland and Sophomore Amber Darlington work to reach above the Chelan team and grab the ball from their grasp. Resulting in a point for Cascade.

Transfer student from Oregon, Jessica Hendrix makes a contribution to the girls Varsity team by scoring a free throw against Chelan.

Junior Alicia DePaz and Jessica Hendrix jog towards each other and give each other low-fives to pump each other up for the game.

Junior Alicia DePaz shows how superior Cascade girls are by shooting from the three point line in a game against Chelan.
DONE TO DEATH

This year, the CHS Actor's Guild put on a hilarious murder-mystery. With a huge band of seniors leading the way, the play was definitely a success.

Below: Skyler Cuthill attacks Jade Horner on stage during a run-through of the play.

Right: The death of Jason Summers causes quite a stir and gets the show clipping right along with death after death.

Senior Projects

This year's Senior Projects at Cascade High School were awesome as always. Some of the projects that we decided to include were Malorie Clark's Africa Unplied Project, Jessica Liles Middle School Play, Carrera Casper's Run for Diabetes, Devon Meloy's demonstration associated with TATU, and Kelsey Davis's soccer camp for elementary school children. All of these projects and many more continued to benefit the community every year.
Devon's Senior Project

Susie Anderson and Stephan McDaniels are both actively involved in helping with Devon's senior project.

Malorie's Senior Project

Malorie Clark's Senior Project was Africa Unveiled. Here you see the lady who started it all with two African children who this program has helped.

Kelsey's Senior Project

Kelsey Davis' soccer camp is a success with kids lined up on the field stretching before they play soccer and learn all of the drills that the high school team does.

Kelsey's Senior Project

One of Kelsey's "students" shows off his awesome skills at the end of the soccer camp.

Kelsey's Senior Project

Kelsey Davis' senior project was a soccer camp. Here, she gives her cousin a little bit of advice on just how to kick the ball and make it soar into the goal.
